

Warts

Warts are caused by Human Papilloma Virus or HPV. There are many different strains of the virus, but one thing remains constant: once you have it you can't get rid of it. Treatment of warts varies from topical treatments to freezing to cutting them out. These lesions are hard to treat and can recur spontaneously once they are gone! Unfortunately we have no "cure-all" for warts, but research will continue until there is a cure.

If you have a wart or think you do, early treatment is less costly than waiting, so make an appointment today!
